

I have called MCI to have them stop calling my business line they said they need 30 days. They call once or twice a week. Then (before the 30 days) the calls did not stop so I called back and they said they need 3 to 10 days. They also advised me to call back every six months to stop them from calling me. I think this is horrible behavior by a company and shows no consideration for others. I will NEVER buy an MCI product and I think that the FCC should stop this. I can't believe I have no right to ask them to stop calling a phone number I own for a solicitation.
